The Long Island Environmental Voters Forum has announced its endorsement of Laura Curran for County Executive. We know that she will make the environment a priority in Nassau County.

"Laura Curran is the champion Nassau County needs to ensure we can protect our water quality, improve the quality of life here on Long Island, and grow our economy. She understands that we have a fundamental responsibility to protect our drinking water, and has offered a real vision for how we can do transit-oriented development. We are proud to stand with Laura, and we will help her win this election so she can give Nassau County the fresh start it deserves." states David Reisfield, LIEVF executive-director.

Richard Amper, LIEVF President noted, "The decision to back Laura Curran could not have been any easier. Whereas Ms. Curran, as a Nassau County legislator, voted to support environmental issues as diverse as the banning of fracking wastes to the creation of the county water resource board, her opponent had a dismal environmental record in the state legislature and made little effort to address the environment in his ill-fated congressional run."

The LIEVF looks forward to working with Ms. Curran as County Executive as we did with her in the Nassau County Legislature.

The Long Island Environmental Voters Forum is a non-profit, non-partisan grassroots organization created to identify, recruit, endorse and support pro-environment candidates for public office.
